

The New Forest Polo Club was founded in 1935 by Major R Walker-Munro. There were 19 founder members and 15, including 6 ladies, took part in the first day's play on 15 May. The Club was called Rhinefield Polo Club, the 'Rhinefield' being taken from Major Walker-Munro's residence Rhinefield Lodge (now Rhinefield House Hotel). From 1935 to 1939 polo was played at Ober Farm, Brockenhurst on a field lent by the founder. From 1940 to 1945 no polo was played due to the war.

Polo resumed in 1946 but the field at Ober Farm was not available. The ground was moved to New Park Farm, Brockenhurst by arrangement with the Forestry Commission and the tenant, the late Mr. W H Gossling.

Major Munro-Walker's original objective of providing inexpensive polo continues to be the guiding philosophy of the New Forest Polo Club. The Club actively encourages beginners and novices in particular Pony Club Members interested in and participating in the Pony Club's own polo section.

The Club's Playing Subscription is probably the lowest in the United Kingdom. We play most Saturdays and Sundays from during the season from late April to End September. The Club is also a social club and runs a number of dances, parties and barbecues throughout the year for all members, family and friends to join in.
